How to Open a my Social Security Account

1. Visit socialsecurity.gov/myaccount
2. Select: “Sign In or Create an Account.”
3. Provide some personal information to verify your identity.
4. Choose a username and password, then select how you would like to receive a one-time security code to create your account.

*No matter what type of device you use, the my Social Security portal will automatically re-adjust to fit the appropriate screen size, providing you full, easy-to-use access to your personal account!*
If you receive benefits or have Medicare, you can:

- Request a replacement Social Security card if you meet certain requirements;
- Report your wages if you work and receive Disability Insurance benefits;
- Get a benefit verification letter as proof that you are getting benefits;
- Check your benefit and payment information and your earnings record;
- Change your address and phone number;
- Start or change direct deposit of your benefit payment;
- Request a replacement Medicare card; and
- Get a replacement SSA-1099 or SSA-1042S for tax season.
We Wouldn’t Miss Your Retirement Party
How Do You Qualify for Retirement Benefits?

• By earning “credits” when you work and pay Social Security taxes

• You need 40 credits (10 years of work) and you must be 62 or older

• Each $1,360 in earnings gives you one credit

• You can earn a maximum of 4 credits per year

Note: To earn 4 credits in 2019, you must earn at least $5,440.
How Social Security Determines Your Benefit

Benefits are based on earnings

• Step 1 - Your wages are adjusted for changes in wage levels over time

• Step 2 - Find the monthly average of your 35 highest earnings years

• Step 3 - Result is “average indexed monthly earnings”

What Is the Best Age to Start Receiving Social Security Retirement Benefits?

Monthly Benefit Amounts Differ Based on the Age You Decide to Start Receiving Benefits

Age You Choose to Start Receiving Benefits

$0  $200  $400  $600  $800  $1,000  $1,200  $1,400

62  63  64  65  66  67  68  69  70

$750  800  866  933  1,000  1,080  1,160  1,240  1,320

Note: This example assumes a benefit of $1,000 at a full retirement age of 66
Spousal Benefits

- Benefit is up to 50% of worker’s benefit

  Receive 50% if spouse is full retirement age

- Reduction for early retirement

  Example: Age 62-30%

- The worker must be receiving benefits

- Does not reduce payment to worker

- If spouse’s own benefit is less than 50% of the worker’s, the benefits are combined
Benefits for Divorced Spouses

You may receive benefits on your ex-spouse's record (even if he or she has remarried) if:

• Married for at least 10 years or longer
• You are unmarried;
• You are age 62 or older;
• Your ex-spouse is entitled to Social Security retirement or disability benefits (age 62 or older); and
• The benefit you are entitled to receive based on your own work is less than the benefit you would receive based on your ex-spouse's work.
Examples

Ricky receives $1200 a month. Lucy files for benefits, eligible for $1000 a month. Lucy would not qualify for spousal benefits because her amount is more than half of his. She can provide for her needs through her benefit amount. Lucy is not dependent on Ricky’s benefit.

Laura files for benefits, eligible for $1800 a month. Her husband, Luke is already receiving $600.00 a month. Luke will continue to receive his $600.00 and an additional $300.00 from Laura. Luke’s benefit is less than half of Laura’s so he is dependent. Luke cannot receive the extra $300 until Laura files for benefits.

Definition of Disability - Adult

The Social Security Act defines disability as:

- a person who cannot work due to a severe medical condition that has lasted, or is expected to last, at least one year or result in death; or

- the person's medical condition must prevent him or her from doing substantial gainful employment – work that he or she did in the past, and it must prevent the person from adjusting to other work.
Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI)

What is it?
SSDI is a program to provide income supplements to people who are no longer able to work because of a significant disability.

Who can file?
• A person who has worked 5 out of the past 10 years;
• have a medical condition that’s expected to last at least one year or result in death;
• are younger than full retirement age (Age 66 2019) and earn less than the substantial gainful activity ($1220 a mo.) limit;
How do I apply for disability benefits?

Online at www.socialsecurity.gov/disability

Call 1-800-772-1213 to make an appointment at your local office
SSDI: What Happens Next?

• Your application will be reviewed to make sure you meet some basic requirements for disability benefits.

• We’ll check whether you worked enough years to qualify and evaluate any current work activities.

• If you meet these requirements, we’ll forward your case to the Disability Determination Services office in your state.
Disability Determination Services Office - State

• This state agency completes the initial disability determination decision for us.

• Doctors and disability specialists in the state agency ask your doctors for information about your condition(s). They’ll consider all the facts in your case.

• They’ll use the medical evidence from your doctors, hospitals, clinics, or institutions where you’ve been treated.
We’ll tell you our decision…

• When the state agency makes a determination on your case, we’ll send a letter to you.

• If approved, the letter will show the amount of your benefit, when your payments start, and your reporting responsibilities.

• If not approved, the letter will explain why and tell you how to appeal the determination if you don’t agree with it.
SSDI: Benefits for the Family

Spouse

- At age 62 (with little or no work history)
- At any age if caring for child who is under 16 or disabled
- Divorced spouses may qualify

Child

- Not married under age 18 (under 19 if still in high school)
- Not married and disabled before age 22
Working While Receiving Benefits

• Social Security has special rules called work incentives that allow you to test your ability to work and still receive monthly Social Security disability benefits. You can also get help with education, rehabilitation, and training you may need to work.

• If you do take a job or become self-employed, tell us about it right away. We need to know when you start or stop work and if there are any changes in your job duties, hours of work, or rate of pay.

• Individuals receiving Social Security disability benefits and their representative payees must report their wages. Wages can be reported using their personal my Social Security account online.
Supplemental Security Income (SSI)

What is it?
SSI is a federal program that provides monthly payments to people who have limited income and few resources. Paid from federal funds not Social Security taxes.

Who is it for?
People who are 65 or older, as well as for those of any age, including children, who are blind or who have disabilities. Paid on the 1st day of the month.
Requirements for Getting SSI

To be eligible for SSI, you must:

• have limited income and few resources; and
• have a medical condition that keeps you from working and is expected to last at least one year or result in death, or
• be totally or partially blind
• Maximum benefit in 2019 is $771.00

Note: There are different rules for children.
Requirements for Getting SSI

- Your income – money you receive such as wages, Social Security benefits, and pensions. Income also includes such things as food and shelter.

- Your resources – things you own such as real estate, bank accounts, cash, stocks, and bonds.

- Where you live – must live in the U.S., or Northern Mariana Islands. If you’re not a U.S. citizen, but you are lawfully residing in the United States, you still may be able to get SSI.
Living Arrangements

Living arrangements are another factor to determine how much SSI a person can get. Benefits may vary depending on where you live:

• In someone else’s household
• In an institution – generally $30/month maximum
• In a group care or board and care facility
Reporting Responsibilities Under SSI

What Things Must You Report To Social Security?
You must report any changes in your status because they may affect your eligibility for SSI and your benefit amount. If you work and get SSI, then you must report your earnings.

When Do You Need To Report?
Report any changes that may affect your SSI as soon as possible and no later than 10 days after the end of the month in which the change occurred.

How Do I Report Wages?
Social Security offers a toll-free automated wage reporting telephone system and a mobile wage reporting application. You can also report your wages through your personal my Social Security account.
If you recently applied for Social Security or Supplemental Security Income disability benefits and were denied for medical reasons, you have the right to file an appeal within 60 days of the date on your decision notice.

Common Scenarios?

- Receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI), turns age 62, starts Retirement benefits, why did my Medicaid stop?

- Why did my mother’s SSI benefits drop to $30.00?

- Got a letter saying my check was reduced by $406.50 because the state of Georgia is not paying for my Medicare.

- My ex-husband died and they told me I couldn’t get anything extra from Social Security.
Medicare
When Can I Get Medicare?

65 & older
-or-
24 months after entitlement to Social Security Disability Benefits
-or-
Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis
-or-
Permanent Kidney Failure and receives Maintenance Dialysis or a Kidney Transplant
Medicare

Part A = Hospital Insurance (Home Health Care, Skilled Nursing care and Hospice)

Part B = Medical Insurance (Doctor’s Services, Home Heath Services, Preventive Services and Durable Medical Equipment) - $135.50 month (2019)

Part C = Medicare Advantage Plans – cost will vary from provider to provider

Note: SSA is not involved with Part C plans: Medicare Supplement, Advantage Plans, etc.

Contact State Health Insurance Program (SHIP) for assistance

Part D = Prescription Drug Plans (Average Cost $33 - $34)

Note: The Red, White and Blue Card
Social Security processes Medicare enrollment for beneficiaries.

- If receiving Social Security benefits before age 65, automatically enrolled into Part A and Part B.
- Premiums are deducted from monthly cash benefit.
- No action necessary.
If still working at age 65…..

- AND covered by health insurance from current employer or spouse’s employer, have the option to apply for Medicare Part A only.

  NOTE: If High Deductible HSA is your type of health insurance at age 65 do not sign up for Medicare Part A until you separate. Must stop your contributions to HSA 6 months before your retire.

- When the person who has health insurance coverage stops working, have 8 months from the day of separation to enroll into Medicare Part B.
If still working at age 65…..

• 2 months before you retire contact Social Security to request “Medicare Special Enrollment Forms.” One form for the employer and one for the applicant. Return both forms to SSA for enrollment.

• Failure to enroll timely (8 months after separating) will result in a 10% penalty of the Medicare Part B for each year you were not enrolled into Part B.
If NOT working at 65……

- Not covered under spouse’s employer’s health insurance; and,
- Waiting to start cash benefits after age 65;
- Contact Social Security 3 months before 65 to apply for Medicare only.
- Can complete Medicare only claim online. Easy and Quick!
- Will pay Medicare directly until cash benefits start.
